Summer Reading Assignment
The True Confessions of Charlotte Doyle

Hi all!

I hope your summer is going GREAT so far! If you've read your summer reading assignment, you may have questions about what you'll actually need to do or have once we return to school!

We will be conducting a trial in class once we return to school in August! To prepare for this trial, you will need to take notes as you read. You will want to take notes that will help you prove your side of the story. Since you do not know which part you will be playing in the trial, you will need to take notes to help you see each side. For example, you will want to take notes on why Charlotte could be innocent, but you will also look for information that could prove she is guilty.

There is no specific format or amount of notes required, but you should remember that it is important to be prepared! Refer to the other assignment sheet for more specific details concerning the trial. If you have any questions throughout the summer, please feel free to email me! My email address is keeli.winston@ourladyacademy.com

Make sure to READ, but also, remember to enjoy your summer!
